Advisor, The Center for Professional Development and Entrepreneurship at MD Anderson, BBVA Compass Bank, and the National Association of Corporate Directors

In January 2013 Ms. Page founded Vineyard Investment Advisors. VIA is focused on partnering with entrepreneurs, businesses, and universities to transform their ideas into products and services. Prior to this venture, Ms. Page served as the President / CEO of Vermillion, Inc. from Jan 2006 thru December 2012. She was a member of the board from 2006 thru 2012 and served as Chairperson from 2010-2011. Vermillion is a healthcare company focused on developing and commercializing novel diagnostic blood test. Upon joining Vermillion in 2004 she inspired a pioneering spirit. Under her leadership the company was repositioned to embrace the progressive nature of its pipeline, successfully raised over $100M in funding, developed and commercially launched the first FDA-cleared blood test to help diagnose ovarian cancer. Ms. Page has spent her entire career in health care and has a passion for emerging technologies that advance the efforts in personalized medicine.

Ms. Page is a member of the American Association of Clinical Chemistry, the Greater Austin Chamber, the Austin Technology Council, the National Association of Professional Women and the National Association of Corporate Directors. In addition, Ms. Page serves as a board member for Sword Diagnostics in the Chicago area as well as Stellarray, Inc., located in Austin. Most recently, she has joined Consortia Health as CO-founder and Executive Chair, also headquartered in Austin. She is actively involved in the local/state community where she serves as a member of the Advisory Board for The Center for Professional Development and Entrepreneurship at MD Anderson, BBVA Compass Bank, and the National Association of Corporate Directors. She is a frequent guest speaker for local and national organizations. In 2010 Ms. Page was recognized by Forbes Woman and Business Week for her work in the healthcare sector. In 2012, Ms. Page was a finalist for the Ernst and Young Entrepreneur of the Year in central Texas and was recognized as one of the top 20 business leaders in the Austin area. In 2014 Ms. Page was named by the Austin Business Journal as a "Woman of Influence and Power" in Central Texas. Most recently, Ms Page was named a "Texas Xconomist" where she will be working with Xconomist throughout the US with a focus on healthcare.

In the year's preceding Vermillion, Ms. Page served in various Executive Management roles with the following companies: American Monitor Corporation, Roche/ Laboratory Corporation of America and Luminox.

Ms. Page earned her degrees from Santa Fe Community College and the University of Florida. In 2003 she completed an executive management program at the Kellogg School in Chicago.

She resides in Austin, Texas and has one daughter, Madison Page. Both she and her daughter are active in the community and are long time patrons for The St David's Foundation, The Center for Child Protection, and Spirit Reins. Ms. Page participated as a judge and contributor in the "Philanthropitch" event which supported the non-profit sector of the Austin community in addition to the "Women and Wine" event at the UT McCombs School as well as the Mentoring Monday event held by the Austin Business Journal. Most recently, she participated as a judge for the Austin Business Journals, CEO of the Year award event. In 2015, Ms. Page will serve as a judge for the central Texas Ernst and Young Entrepreneur of the Year award.
