

Todd Rimmer

Executive Managing Director and President, WG Consulting

Todd Rimmer is the Executive Managing Director and President of WG Consulting. Prior to joining WG, he was the senior vice president and Chief Financial Officer of Valerus since May 2010. Valerus is a private equity owned oil field service company focused on integrated oil and natural gas handling equipment, primarily compression. His responsibilities included domestic and international accounting, finance, treasury, tax, information technology and financial planning and analysis. Prior to joining Valerus, Rimmer was with Sequent Energy Management (Sequent), a Houston-based division of AGL Resources Inc., since 2004 where he began as vice president and Controller and later served as senior vice president and Chief Financial Officer. Sequent is involved in natural gas asset management and optimization, producer services, wholesale marketing and risk management activities. Rimmer was also with American Electric Power (AEP) in Columbus, Ohio where he served as the director of financial reporting responsible for the corporate level consolidation and external reporting for AEP's eleven public registrants, as well as all other regulatory and non-public filings. He began his career with Deloitte where he focused primarily on oil field service, energy trading and independent power producer clients and achieved the level of senior manager.
