Hoshi Printer

Hoshi Printer has more than four decades of impressive board, general and financial management experience spanning a wide range of industries. His expertise includes board roles especially in audit committees, dealing with Wall Street, capital raising, improving operational effectiveness, and restructuring organizations.

Hoshi is on the board of directors of Lantronix, a public technology company, where he is the Chairman of the Audit Committee and a member of the Compensation committee and the Nominating / Governance committee.

He also serves on the boards of IMRI (Information Management Resources Inc.), a privately held company and Transient Plasma Systems (TPS) Inc., a technology startup. He is a Board member and Chair of the Audit Committee and Nominating / Governance Committee at Standard Homeopathic Company (aka Hyland's), a family owned company established in 1903.

He is on the boards of NACD (National Association of Corporate Directors) Southern California Chapter, and FCD (Forum for Corporate Directors).

Hoshi is one of the few CFOs to have taken three companies public, and was well respected by both buy-side and sell-side analysts. He raised funds for several other companies in various stages of maturity. He led acquisition of seven companies and participated in several other negotiations for both sale and acquisitions.

Hoshi has served as CFO for ten technology companies in sectors that include the Internet, e-commerce, software, storage, and biosciences.

Hoshi began his career at Xerox Corporation, where he spent 17 years, the last six as Vice President of Finance.

As testament to his sound financial and organizational skills, Hoshi was invited to the White House as a Cash Management consultant, where he helped the U.S. Treasury by increasing cash flow at two government agencies.

Hoshi is frequently invited to speak on financial matters. He is the Vice Chair of the Stanford Business School Alumni Association of Orange County, and member of the Executive Council of the Mihaylo College of Business at Cal State Fullerton. He has served as the President of the Software Council of Southern California and on the Executive Board of AeA Orange County.

Hoshi's academic credentials include an M.B.A. from the Stanford Business School, an M.S. in Industrial Engineering, and a B.S. in both Mechanical and Electrical Engineering. He served as a Lieutenant in the U.S. Army and is a Vietnam veteran.

He lives with his wife in Newport Coast. He can be reached at 949.300.5415 or at Hoshi.Hoshi@gmail.com