THE NATIONAL ASSOCIATION OF CORPORATE DIRECTORS ATLANTA CHAPTER ELECTS MILTON H. JONES JR. TO ITS BOARD OF DIRECTORS

ATLANTA, GA May 10, 2016 – The National Association of Corporate Directors (NACD) Atlanta Chapter at atlanta.nacdonline.org, the advocate for the profession of directorship, today announced the election of Milton H. Jones Jr. to its Board of Directors effective May 2016.

Milton Jones is a founding member of Peachtree Providence Partners Holding Company, LLC. Peachtree Providence Partners is a holding company with full or partial ownership in companies in key business sectors, which include energy, financial products, healthcare, technology, manufacturing/distribution and consulting.

Mr. Jones is the former Executive Chairman and a founding member of CertusBank, NA and was also a 32-year veteran of Bank of America and its predecessor companies where he held a number of senior executive roles, including Georgia Market President.

Mr. Jones chairs the Board of The Atlanta Business League, is Vice Chair of the Board of Trustees of Meharry Medical College in Nashville, Treasurer and Board member of the 100 Black Men of America, and a board member of the United Negro College Fund, the Metro Atlanta YMCA and the Piedmont Hospital Foundation.

"Milton will bring incredible depth to the broad range of governance best practices in both the profit and non-profit space. Our chapter is dedicated to advancing director excellence and Milton will join an expanding board to make a significant difference."

ABOUT NACD ATLANTA CHAPTER

NACD ATLANTA CHAPTER helps directors lead with confidence. The chapter provides a forum for local NACD members to exchange knowledge and discuss leading governance practices in Georgia. Members in each of NACD's 22 chapters participate in a national dialogue on building a global marketplace in which businesses are sustainable, profitable, and respected—one where stakeholders trust directors to provide effective oversight and develop strategies that create long-term value for shareholders.
